

Mr. Hacking

6-24-2014

While reviewing videos and logs on the new video server it became apparent that Jared was viewing live video sometimes for hours every day, it was also apparent he was playing recordings that seemed suspicious in content. I have created a spreadsheet with the following breakdown. The full log of Jared's activity from 5-19-14 thru 6-23-14, a log of logon and off times, a summary of hours spent each day using the video software and a log of the recordings viewed. I have also captured the corresponding recordings and put them in directories labeled by date.

The following is a description of the logs.xls spreadsheet and the data contained within. Once opened the spread sheet contains 4 tabs at the bottom, the first tab named Full Log contains the full log of activity sorted by date and time, the second tab named Logon Logoff contains the logon and log off date and times, the third tab named Summary of Hours contains the summary of hours spent logged on sorted by date and time, the last tab named Video viewing log contains the playback and snapshot log sorted by the subject.

The following is a breakdown of the number of times a person seemed to be the primary subject in a reviewed video.
